Were Not Allowed to Leave the Train Until They Arrived at New Orleans-Mississippi Towns Setting Up the Most Rigid Quarantine-Many Doctors Are New III

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19 .- A party of fifty Italians who reached here to-day over the Mississippi Valley Railroad say they were driven out of the towns of Baker and Zachary, La., at the point of shotguns. They tried to leave the train at several points before reaching here, but were not allowed to do so and were compelled to come to New Orleans. The Italians were all healthy and no objection was made to their landing here. They brought a large amount of baggage and household stuff and had evidently left their former homes for good.

No explanation is given from the towns they left as to why they were forced .to go, but there is a strong prejudice against Italians in most of the small towns of the fever belt. In nearly all of them no Italians have been permitted to enter and in some they have been compelled to pass through the detention camps, but the case to-day is the first reported where they have been driven out of a town.

The situation at Lee, in Lafourche parish; is unfavorable. The place is a fishing settlement on the Gulf coast near the mouth of Bayou Lafourche, rather than a town. The settlement numbers probably 1,000 persons, nearly all of whom are engaged in persons, nearly all of whom are engaged in fishing. It is very near Chenière Canunanda, where the great Gulf hurricane of 1893 drowned over 2,000 persons. The population is of the same character as that at the Chenière, simple and largely illiterate. It is from 80 to 100 miles from a railroad, the only communication with the world being by water, up Bayou Lafourche, a route very little used, or by Bayou Barataria or the Mississippi River to New Orleans, with which there is close communication, the fishermen selling their fish and cysters in the city market.

Oysters in the city market.

Cut off by the present epidemic, little was known of the condition of the fishing settlements on the Gulf coast until Dr. Stark, health officer of Lafourche, hearing that there was much sickness there went down to investigate. He found 100 persons sick, some from yellow fever, and some apparently from dengue, but the two so mixed that it was impossible to distwo so mixed that it was impossible to dis-tinguish them. The situation was aggra-vated by the fact that the local doctors practising among the fisher folk were among the first prostrated by the fever. Little difficulty was encountered in tracing the disease to New Orleans, as the bigger landing for fish boats in New Orleans is immediately in front of the French market, the original center of infection in New Orleans.

Dr. Stark found that the fever had broken out at Lee in June, three weeks or more before its existence was known to the health authorities of New Orleans, and two months before it was brought to light. BOOKER T. TO JERSEY NEGROES. 'No Disgrace to Wash Windows: Disgrace

Comes When It Is Done Poorty. BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Aug. 19. - Booker T. Washington addressed a large assemblage of colored and white people in Glenwood Park, Bloomfield, this afternoon. He said:

"Our people in the North might be called drummers' samples, for when a drummer goes on the road he does not carry all the goods in the warehouse with him, but only the samples. Now, if the samples are good in the State of New Jersey the white race will believe that all negroes are good, but will believe that all negroes are good, but if worthless, drunken and lazy, then the white race in the State will believe that the black race, numbering $,000,000 throughout the country, are like the drunmers' samples in New Jersey.

"You must not be content with an education alone. It is no disgrace to wash windows or sweep a floor; the disgrace comes when it is done poorly. Some of our young colored men in the North who have been graduated from high schools and colleges are doing menial work because they find it easier to draw a small salary at the end of the week than to think.

"A young colored porter on a Pullman car "A young colored porter on a Pullman car was blacking shoes one morning when the thought struck him that, as a college gradthought struck him that, as a college grad-uate, he might use his knowledge of chem-istry in improving the blacking. He started to manufacture in a small way, still holding his job on the railroad. When he found his business was proving a success he resigned, and to-day he has a large plant in the city of Chicago employing hundreds of colored men and shipping his goods all over the world."

Mr. Washington advised the colored people of New Jersey to get into business in a small way and give it their best energy and thought and that would bring success. "If you do this," Mr. Washington declared, "you will find that the white race does not always draw the color line."

DOGS AT BRIGHTON BEACH. Long Island Kennel Club to Rule There on Laber Day.

When the horse is away the dogs may play at the Brighton Beach racecourse. On Labor Day, Sept. 4, the Long Island Kennel, Club will hold its second summer show in the paddock there. There will also be whippet racing, with J. A. Boutelle as the handicapper and A. P. Vredenburg as judge. The entries for the show close to-morrow with Secretary Dale, 153 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn. There are 519 regular classes, inclusive of all breeds, and a wide range of special classes.

The new American Kennel Club division of the breeds into sporting, non-sporting and terrier divisions will prevail at this show and govern the variety classes, which are six in number and open to all breeds as thus sorted out. It will be the first show about New York at which dogs, not bred in this country will be debarred from the novice classes.

There are to be eleven judges and they will have a bustling day of it. Ferd Senn, who has been showing toys longer than any other exhibitor in New York, and has run the gamu of all the judges, is this time to judge all toys. His placings will be noted with interest, as the ratings of a practical exhibitor. Mrs. Henry T. Foote will pass on French buildogs, Scottish terriers and black and tan terriers, and the others to judge in breeds with which they are more or less identified will be William Tallman, Theo Offerman, Monson Morris, W. P. Earle, Dr. A. P. Northridge, C. G. Hopton, Majer J. M. Taylor, E. M. Oldham and M. F. Mulcahy. The latter comes on from Boston to Judge Boston terriers, which is going to the fountainhead of the breed for an oracle. When the horse is away the dogs may play

GOLFER ANDERSON'S FIELD DAY

Company of the Compan

MAKES NEW RECORDS OF ALL PATTERNS ON MAHOPAC LINKS.

Incidentally Defeats Aleck Smith by Long Island Championship-August Handicaps at the Van Cortlandt Links.

Two of the leading candidates for the M. G. A. open championship, Aleck Smith and Will Anderson, had a try out yesterday in a $100 match on the course of the Mahopac Golf Club, in which the open champion carried off the honors. Anderson broke all former records for the course and played with a dash that greatly pleased all beholders. He defeated Smith by 7 up and 8 to play, and cut the nine hole record from 89 to 36, the eighteen hole record from 79 to 73, and the thirty-six hole mark from 160 to 147.

Aleck Smith was on his game, but he had poor luck on some of the tricky holes, and on the approach shots the "kicks" were always against his next shot. The recent siege with malaria, which confined Smith to his bed for three weeks, was also a factor in taking some snap from his game. The course is a well laid round of 3,006 yards and in the best of turf. It is very picturesquely located on the banks of Lake Mahopac and both professionals were loud in praise of the links. Setting out in 87 to Smith's 38, Anderson had the lead by a hole at the turn. He finished in 78 and 5 up. The afternoon round was another faultless showing by the open champion and he recorded 74. Smith made his rounds in 79 and 75, and, had the approaches been right, he would have had no grumbles to utter. The cards were:

Kineo, Me., Aug. 19.—Close scores were a feature of the weekly golf tournament, an eighteen hole medal play handicap, H. Stuart Hollis, New York; T. Allen Hilles, Wilmington, and B. F. Harding, Milton, Mass., tying for the gross prize at 89 each, and playing from scratch. Harding won the play off. Mrs. M. D. Paterson and Austin Feuchtwanger, both of New York, and whose handicaps were 12 each, tied for the net prize at 80, Mrs. Paterson defaulting the play-off to her schoolboy opponent. The other scores were: F. W. Hents, Philadelphia, 90, 5-85; Charles H. Tuttle, New York, 98, 11-87; L. A. Bbling, New York, 99, 11-88; F. H. BRISK WIND FOR YACHT RACE. Mystral Disabled in Huguenet Y. C. Regatta

-Many Form Reversals.

The Huguenot Yacht Club has been usually favored by half a gale of wind for its annual regatta and its eleventh annual regatta sailed yesterday proved no exception to the rule. The wind was northeast and strong enough to make the little fellows that did not reef wish they had reefed. It also, as it always does, on the Sound, kicked up a sea that made everbody uncomfortable except the most seasoned of saits.

Twenty-eight yachts started. One serious mishap occurred before the start and three minor ones afterward, so that only twentymaneuvering, though there was really no widely separated, the raceabout Mystral, owned by Commodore A. C. Bostwick of the Larchmont Yacht Club, and the 85-foot sloop Nike, owned by Victor I. Cumnock of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club, came together, with the result that the Mystral's mast was broken in two places and her rigging completely wrecked.

The Nike was uninjured. Being on the starboard tack at the time she had the right of way, and the Mystral being on the port tack was at fault, but as it was blowing hard and the boats as a consequence heeling far over, it is quite possible the skipper of the like did not see the Mystral.

The start was at 12:10. The course was triangular, the largest boats going twice around a 7%-mile triangle, the intermediate three times around a 3%-mile triangle and the small est twice round a 8%-mile triangle. The first leg was a hard thresh to windward, est twice round a 8%-mille triangle. The first leg was a hard thrash to windward, the second an easy reach and the third leg a broad reach.

The weather conditions upset all calculations. Yachts that under ordinary conditions have usually won were left far astern, while others that have generally been beaten proved winners. So in the raceabout class invader, Jr., which seldom if ever has finished in front, came out the victor, while Rascal II., although steered by the veteran Hazen Morse, was beaten.

In the 27 foot class, also, Rascal, a frequent winner, was beaten by Montauk, a boat that is usually among the tailenders. Nike scored an easy victory over Mimosa I., but the latter sailed a longer course by mistaking one of the turning marks. In the 22 foot class Paumonok beat Okee, and in the 18 foot class Ace, as usual, beat Hamburg.

Houri beat Vaquero in the Larchmont 21 foot class, and in the Indian Harbor one design class Kencshi won, but Owatanna, after losing her rudder, sailed a plucky race, steering with an oar. Wister won handlily in the Manhassett Bay class. The yawi Memory, the sloop Dod and the Horseshoe Harbor one design Quinsigamond had sail overs.

The cat Vava finished first in her class and is probably a winner, but official measurements, which are not at hand, may affect the result on time allowance.

Miss Jennie S. North sailed the Kim and the helm of the Brinetta was held by Miss Dorothy Hill. Miss Lillian Speed sailed the Snyder boat, Sip, and came in third, 2 minutes and 50 seconds behind the Brinetta. Other entries were the Spook, sailed by Miss Ethel Berner, the Agnes Ethel, by Mrs. Rupart Ryley, and the Calimty, by Mrs. Dr. Wade.

The start was at 4 o'clock, with light northwest breeze shifting to south and winding up with a calm.

YACHTSMENTOO TIRED TO RACE

EASTERN Y. C. REGATTA AT MAR-BLEHEAD FALLS THROUGH.

Trener L. Park's Mimesa III. Runs Away From the Easterners in Impromptu Contest-Defeat for Mira-New York Y. C.

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 19 .- The Eastern Yacht Club had arranged for a regatta to-day in which the yachts of the New York fleet were to compete. So few entries were made that the regatta was declared off, and in its stead there was some racing in the small classes The yachtsmen were all tired out. Since leaving Newport on Thursday morning they had been bothered with light, fluky winds. On Thursday evening it was very late when they reached Vineyard Haven, and then with only a short rest the start was made over the shoals for this port, and it was after midnight when many of the boats arrived in the harbor. To start out again for a hard race was more than they wanted, and so the yachts remained at their moorings all day and the yachstmen visited the Eastern Yacht Club men on shore. The two days storm at Newport upset things very much. But for that storm on Tuesday the Astor cups would have been sailed for. The fleet would have arrived at Vineyard Haven on Wednesday and here on Thursday, and then with a day's rest they would have been ready for some hard racing to-day. Instead several of the yachts, especially the larger ones, are getting over-hauled for the ocean race to Halifax, which will be started at 10 o'clock on Monday morn-

Commodore Frederick C. Bourne called meeting of the fleet captains on board the Colonia this afternoon and it was decided to disband the fleet. The commodore was thanked by the yachtemen by a vote for the way he had led the squadron during the cruise and for the many things he has done to make the cruise the success it has been. The fleet started out well. For three days kinds. On the first three runs the racing It was not possible to find a day to race for the Astor cups, so those races have been declared off. Col. Astor has, however, with the consent of the commodore, given the trophies to the regatta committee, and that committee has arranged for races for them tions. The races will be for yachts in racing trim, one for schooners in one class an one for yawis and sloops in one class. The date for these races will be Sept. 12 or 18 and will follow the races for the Autumn on Sept. 9. A reasonable time will be allowed As the races for the vice-commodore's cups

TAME SPORT AT EMPIRE CITY.

Many causes contributed to make the ninth matinee of the New York Driving Club, at Empire City track the least sensational of the series. The change in the matches seemed to effect the speed of the horses and there was not a fast mile trotted or paced.

The team race that has been considered as a most attractive feature, failed again to materialize. W. C. Floyd Jones was ready with the champions, King Chimes, 2:10 ½ and covernment arranged for the Sastern Yacht Club has received word from peting towns, and sight worker occurses, to will follow the racers to Halifax on Monday, and the Large fleet of yachts will follow the racers to Halifax on Bostacle of Trace. The yachts are to turn fifteen marks and the Canadians have arranged a program that will keep all hands busy.

The sloop Cossack, owned by Henry A. Morss, chairman of the Eastern Yacht Club ocean race committee, has arrived at Halifax. She will be entered for the race for the Prince of Wales cup, Aug. 26, and will also enter the racing runs from Halifax to Shelburne, beginning Aug. 28 and lasting three days, with two ports of call.

Fifteen entries have been received for the ocean race.

After a long drag around the cape, neither owners nor crew felt like racing except in the case of two boats, the Mira, Charles Lane Poor, and the Mimosa III., Trenor L. Park.

As an offset to the failure of the regatta the Eastern club hustled around and arranged a race between the two boats named and as many local craft as could be drummed up on short notice.

The race was started at 12:20 off Marblehead Rock, for two classes, with four entries in one and three in the other. The course was 10% miles, a reach of three miles, a beat of four, and a broad reach home. The wind was east, fairly strong and steady.

The lead in Class M was taken at the start by the Meemer, local champion of seven years ago, and she held it all around the course, dropping the Mira steadily. The boats rate the same, 36.6 feet, but the Mira carried more sail and had a topsail, while the Meemer carried none. The Chewink IV., a Herreshoff restricted 30 footer, finished second.

In Class M, the Mimosa III. ran away from her three local competitors, beating the second boat, the 30 footer Dorel, nearly fourteen minutes. The summary:

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—Heavy showers just before the races at Latonia to-day made an already soft track very sloppy. Three favorites, two well played second choices and a long shot won. Sister Frances won the two-year-old handicap handliy, and Red Leaf that for three-year-olds by ten length, builling up. The horsemen at the track signed a petition to have the meeting continued again to October, with Louisville to follow just before New Orleans. The summaries:

STEVENS TRIUMPHS EASILY. Baseline Exponent Beats Karl Behr in

Southampton Tennis Final. SOUTHAMPTON, L. I., Aug. 19.—Richard Stevens of the St. George's Cricket Club overwhelmed Karl H. Behr of Yale in the final round of the invitation singles here today. It was a sweeping triumph for the basene style of play of which Stevens is so well known an exponent, and it marks also the first occasion upon which the Jerseyman has triumphed here. Behr fell a victim in easy winning only three games in as many sets. Stevens's long drives passed him time and again. The Yalesian apparently shot his bolt in the first set and weakened greatly

There was a snappy struggle in the invitation doubles. Frederick G. Anderson and Harry F. Allen, after putting out William A Larned and Henry Holt in the semi finals, met Henry Torrance and Theodore Roose-velt Pell in the final. The teams won two sets apiece, but play came to a halt with the deckling set at 12—12.

George A. Nettleton won the consolation singles. The mixed doubles were carried to the semi final round. The results: Invitation Singles—Semi-final round—Karl Behr, Yale University, defeated Edward B. Dewhurst, University of Pennsylvania, 6—0, 7—5.
